

This map illustrates the administrative divisions of the Boro District in the Eastern Highlands of Papua New Guinea. The district is divided into several locations, each further subdivided into sub-locations. The locations are color-coded: North Alego (green), Central Alego (green), South Central (green), and others (blue). The sub-locations are labeled with names such as Uhuru, Uhembo, Segere, Boro, Kalenjuok, and Harambee. The map also shows major roads and a scale bar indicating a scale of 1:120,000. A legend in the bottom right corner defines the symbols used for markets, district boundaries, division names, location names, and sub-location names.
